Soviet Summer Drive Launched On Large Scale

"Enormous Losses" Inflicted on Nazis

LONDON, Saturday, June 24 (P)—The Red army crashed into German lines on two sides of the fortified city of Vitebsk in White Russia yesterday, opening the long-expected Soviet summer offensive, and today Moscow announced that "enormous losses" had been inflicted on the enemy.

The westward onslaught, which the German radio said actually began on Thursday, third anniversary of the Nazis' declaration of war against Russia, was on a large scale with artillery and aircraft joining in hours of terrific bombardment before the infantry pushed forward "in the wake of a wall of fire," a supplement to the Russian communiqué stated.

Reds Gain Ten Miles

The Red troops struck northwest and southeast of Vitebsk, near the center of the 2,000-mile long Eastern front, and in the first day gained nearly ten miles and liberated more than 150 localities.

Carving swiftly through enemy lines, the twin offensive cut the railway line connecting German troops at Vitebsk with the rear and severed German fortified positions in a tangle of debris.

German Position Wrecked

Hundreds of Russian guns of all calibers and mortars kept up a continuous fire against the Nazis and the supplement said that enemy positions not wrecked by this heavy barrage were soon wiped out by the infantry broke through the German lines.

The enemy is suffering enormous losses. German trenches and battlefields are littered with Hitlerite corpses, smashed equipment and material. Our troops captured many prisoners, the supplement broadcast early today said.

The Russians' new drive, along the Smolensk-Orsha road which Napoleon traversed more than 100 years ago, did not diminish the fighting on the Finnish front and the supplement said that Red troops continued to swarm across the Svir river between Lakes Ladoga and Onegskoe as well as to advance north of Vilpuri at the top of the Karelian isthmus.

Japanese Open Battle for China

By SPENCER MOOSA
CHUNGKING, June 23 (P)—Thousands of Chinese civilians are being the rail junction of Hengyang, the Chinese announced tonight, making no attempt to minimize the city's peril as the Japanese closed in within twenty-five miles of their goal in a drive which may become a virtual battle for China.

Fighting raged furiously in Hengyang, twenty-five miles northwest of the city, and the leader was pouring troops into the city—even drawing them from the Peiping-Hankow rail area in Hunan province to the north, in an all-out drive to split China in two and prepare for future American landings in the embattled city.

Upwards of 120,000 Japanese troops now were estimated to be engaged in the drive southward from fallen Changsha, along a road front of from 80 to 100 miles. Hengyang itself, small though the city is, is a vital link in the enemy's line of communication. It has been infiltrated, a Chinese communiqué said, but they were forced out yesterday.

Many Allied Bombers Sweep Over France

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 23 (P)—United States bombers and Liberators swept over France twice today, climaxing a twenty-four-hour aerial bombardment of enemy communications between the battle zone by hitting airfields and rail bridges after making an earlier assault on the launching base of the Nazis' flying bombs at Pas-De-Calais.

ALL CAMOUFLAGE—EXCEPT EYE
His uniform and his courage were 100 per cent camouflaged, but that dark spot under the left eye of the German prisoner shown above—that's real! It's a "shiner" received during hand-to-hand combat with some of the Canadian units in the battle of Normandy. He is being taken to a first aid station by Pvt. Gaston Daigneault, Chateaugay, Quebec, and Pvt. Robert Bonneau, Lyster, Quebec.

Germans Making Stand in Italy

GOP-Democratic Slate Advocated

Fight Bitterly In Perugia Area

By LYNN HEINZLERING
ROME, June 23 (P)—German forces have halted their flight in Central Italy and are making a bitter stand against the Allied Eighth army on both sides of Lake Trasimeno, about eighty-five miles north and slightly west of Rome, field dispatches reported today.

(A broadcast by CBS said the Nazis had counter-attacked strongly and recaptured the town of Chiusi, nine miles southwest of Lake Trasimeno and twenty-five miles south-west of Perugia.)

Heavy rains early in the week gave the Germans a much-needed breathing spell in which to reorganize and strengthen their defenses at the center of the line, and it appeared they would not be thrown into retreat again until the Eighth army could gather itself and attack in force.

Today's Allied communiqué said the Eighth was meeting "strong resistance" both north and northwest of Perugia and at the southwest corner of Lake Trasimeno, where several enemy counterattacks had been repulsed.

On the two wings the Allied advance continued, though the Americans pushing up the West Italian coast and the French on their immediate inland flank encountered increasingly stiff resistance. Only in the Adriatic sector was the Nazis' flight unchecked. There Eighth army troops crossed the Chienti river and reached the vicinity of Morrovalle and Montecosaro, less than twenty-five miles from the big port of Ancona.

Germans Battle French Patriots

By HENRY B. JAMESON
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 23 (P)—Large German armored, artillery and air forces have been diverted from the invasion front and are fighting the French underground in battles raging over a large part of the countryside, a special communiqué said today.

Systematic disorganization of enemy transport has "contributed directly to the success of Allied operations in Normandy," said the second special war bulletin of supreme headquarters. It pictured resistance reaching full battle pitch as Partisans harassed and pitched the Nazis.

More Whiskey Promised

BALTIMORE, June 23 (P)—The whiskey shortage in the state will be eased appreciably before the end of the month with the release of whiskey now in warehouses, Donald Hammond, secretary of the Association of Maryland Distillers, declared today.

28,000 Ton Ship Is Torpedoed by U. S. Submarine

Destroyer Also Sent to Bottom

By LEIF ERICKSON
UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, June 23 (P)—Japan's naval defeat in the Philippines sea vaulted to crushing proportions today when it was disclosed officially that one of her biggest and newest aircraft carriers probably was sent to the bottom by a submarine.

(The carrier was of the Shokaku class, probably a 28,000 ton, 815 foot long warship.)

The announcement of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, made in a communiqué, also listed the definite sinking of a destroyer. That made the score of the June 18-19 action.

Definitely sunk—A Hayataka class carrier, a destroyer and three tankers. (5)

Damaged—A Hayataka-class carrier "left burning furiously"; a Zuikaku-class carrier, hit with three 1,000-pound bombs; a light carrier, hit by two aerial bombs; a Kongo-class battleship; a cruiser; two destroyers and two tankers. (9)

In addition, the Japanese lost more than 360 carrier planes.

Two United States carriers and a battleship sustained superficial damage and lost seventy planes.

The Shokaku class carrier was hit by three torpedoes Sunday, the first day of a victory scored largely by aircraft of Task Force fifty-eight, commanded by Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher.

Jap Fleet Runs Away

The communiqué did not mention the fighting on Saipan island in the Southern Marianas, the invasion of which by American assault forces goaded a major part of the Japanese fleet into action. When that force was defeated in Sunday's terrific air battle in its attempt to assist some 20,000 defenders of Saipan, it turned back.

American ground forces, aided by this stunning victory, were last reported boring northwest in steady gains. Enemy forces were under constant pressure from the air, land and sea.

Nimitz made no claim in today's report that the light enemy carrier hit by aerial torpedoes was sunk or even probably sunk. Naval men, however, pointed out that two such hits must have caused great damage.

Tear Gas Bombs Used To Subdue Baltimore Rioters

BALTIMORE, June 23 (P)—Tear gas bombs were used to disperse a mob of hundreds of negroes today after twenty or more special police at the Bethlehem-Fairfield Shipyard were unable to hold them back following a fight between a city policeman and a negro.

Shipyard officials said the fight started when a city patrolman, Thomas Henderson, attempted to arrest the negro on a traffic charge and the negro resisted.

The incident took place at the change of shifts and there were hundreds of workmen both inside and outside the yard.

Draft of Republican Platform Asks New Spirit in Government

By JACK BELL
CHICAGO, June 23 (P)—The general outlines of a Republican platform promising co-operation with a free world for future peace and a "new spirit in federal government" took shape tonight as the GOP convention resolutions committee concluded public hearings.

Submission of a foreign policy plank declaring against the formation of a "world state" shared interest with a detailed blueprint for proposed changes in government administration furnished by a Postwar Advisory committee headed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

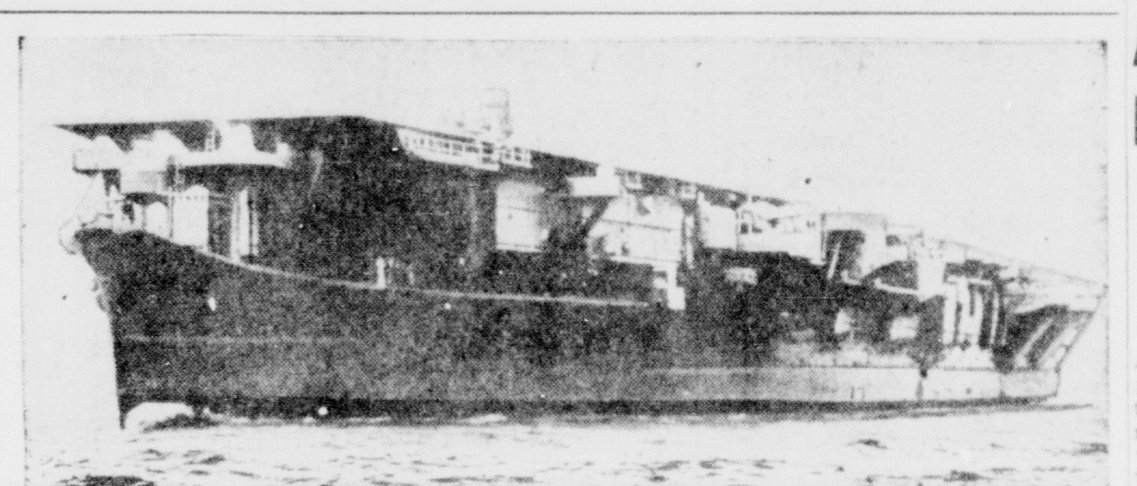

Because Dewey appears to be the leading contender for a presidential nomination that may be made by next Wednesday, platform committee members scanned closely a personal message he sent members accusing the Democratic administration of abuse of power as well as a forty-three-page report calling on the Republicans to "restore harmony in government."

Dewey criticized the Roosevelt administration as "sprawling," overlapping bureaucracy which he said was "undermined by executive abuse of power, confused lines of authority, duplication of effort, inadequate fiscal controls, loose personnel practices, and an attitude of arrogance previously unknown in our history."

"We need," he continued, "an administration wherein the president, acting in harmony with Congress, will effect these necessary reforms and raise the federal service to a high level of efficiency and competence."

TYPE OF JAPANESE CARRIER SUNK BY SUBMARINE

SINKING OF ONE OF JAPAN'S newest carriers of the type shown above was announced by Admiral Nimitz last night. An American submarine hit the latest victim of the war in the Pacific three times, Nimitz reported.

Cherbourg Tottering: American Troops Crack German Line in South, Advance in East

By JAMES M. LONG
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Saturday, June 24 (P)—American troops broke through the German Cherbourg line on the southern outskirts of the city last night and also closed in swiftly from the east after capturing a key hill position near Tourlaville, a mile outside France's third largest port.

Cherbourg's fall appeared near despite heavy resistance by thousands of German troops who have been ordered to die by their guns or be shot for cowardice.

Official dispatches trailed decisive field developments by hours and it was considered possible that the Yanks already had some patrols probing into the city's outer rim.

Nazi Lines Ripped Open

A dispatch from Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent with the Yank assault forces, said a break-through of the Nazi lines occurred between Mont Du Roc and Oteville after American shock troops had been attacking the fortified Mont Du Roc, which is two and one-half miles outside Cherbourg near Noulainville. Oteville is two miles east of Noulainville and the site of one of the huge forts guarding Cherbourg. Nazi lines were ripped open between 9:15 p. m. (3:15 p. m. Eastern War Time.)

Other American troops before this break occurred had stormed and captured another fortified hill-top only one mile east of Cherbourg, and headquarters predicted Cherbourg's fall was near.

The 11:30 p. m. communiqué said "pressure on the Cherbourg defenses increasing" and indicated that American troops were fanning out swiftly over the entire Barbeur promontory east of the port. "Patrols east of Cherbourg are finding little opposition in the sector between Cap Levy and St. Vaast," it said.

Americans Ring City

A statement issued earlier said: "The Cherbourg defenses are fairly formidable but a prolonged siege is unlikely."

The Americans apparently had already ringed the city completely by smashing through to the sea on both sides of Cherbourg.

As soon as the last two ridges near the Roule and Oteville forts south and southwest of Cherbourg are taken the Americans are expected to break through in force to Cherbourg's heart.

French Patriots wearing identifying armbands were aiding the liberating forces attacking in the woods and hedgerows on both sides of the Divette river valley south of the city. They ranged from teenage youths to bearded veterans of the first World War.

Only local fighting was reported in the Caen-Tilly area on the eastern end of the front.

Enemy Trawler Sunk

The communiqué said that Allied light naval forces sank one enemy armed trawler caught on a convoy escort mission south of Jersey island off the west coast of the peninsula. One of the German ships in the convoy was "left ablaze and damaged was inflicted on the remainder by gunfire," the bulletin said.

Allied airmen despite restricting weather hammered Nazi bases and communications beyond the Normandy battle front.

Germans Step Up Rocket Attacks

Peak Not Reached, Parliament Hears

By GLADWIN HILL
LONDON, June 23 (P)—German rocket bombs exploded in South England tonight for the ninth straight night, causing deaths and damage and underscoring a warning to Parliament by Home Secretary Herbert S. Morrison that "it may be these attacks have not yet reached their peak."

Morrison today gave Parliament authoritative word that up to now the robot bombs are doing "little damage of national importance" and killing fewer people than did the Nazis' light air raids in February.

An implied threat that the flying bomb and other secret weapons of which German propaganda has hinted, would be used elsewhere came today when Martin von Hallesleben, Nazi radio commentator, said: "I think I am not mistaken in assuming," he said in a broadcast, "that certain improved weapons of war will not be used exclusively on the Western front."

The Germans stepped up the robot attacks with darkness and Britons in increasing numbers sought public shelters.

Jap Merchantman Sunk by Liberators

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Saturday, June 24 (P)—Liberator bombers sank or damaged a 3,000 ton merchantman off Sorong, on the northwestern tip of Dutch New Guinea, headquarters announced today.

The attack, made June 24, continued land-based assaults against what has been described as Japan's last effective air base on New Guinea.

Five coastal vessels and three barges were sunk or damaged off Sorong June 22. In other attacks, Noemfoor island—west of American-Indonesian Batak in Geelvink bay—Truk, Rabaul and Buka were bombed.

Congress Takes Five Weeks Off

WASHINGTON, June 23 (P)—Congress left Washington today for a five-week vacation after a six-month session devoted largely to charting the course for return to normalcy when peace comes.

Fully half of the six-month meeting was spent blueprinting a program of aid to returning servicemen. The main measures give them mustering-out pay, and provides through the "G.I. Bill of Rights" a program for their restoration to civilian life through educational and job opportunities, hospitalization and loans.

Parts of Penn. And West Va. Hit By Record Storm

Hundreds Injured, Many Homes Razed

PITTSBURGH, June 23 (P)—At least forty-two persons were reported killed and hundreds injured tonight when a violent wind of tornado force twisted through Southwestern Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia.

The death toll was rising as scattered reports came in from areas that were at first isolated as the storm cut communication lines. Nineteen were reported dead in Pennsylvania, twenty-three in West Virginia.

Striking at nightfall, the storm was of brief duration, lasting but about fifteen minutes in most places. It hit areas as far as 100 miles from here, reaching south 100 miles to Shinnston, W. Va., and east seventy miles into Indiana County, Pa.

10 Dead in McKeesport

In McKeesport, Pa., ten were reported dead, and in Clarksville, Pa., forty miles south of here, 7 were reported killed. Pennsylvania state police said two were dead in Indiana County.

Superintendent William Hacker of McKeesport hospital said, "Dozens" were in the hospital with serious injuries, and "hundreds" were treated and discharged, he added.

Wide Area Hit

Appeals for medical aid were received by state police. Red Cross officials and civilian defense organizations over a wide area.

In a telephone appeal for medical aid, Lazer McGee, a state mine inspector, declared a "tornado" smashed through one section of the city collapsing houses "as if they were cardboard." Four persons were known dead there.

22 Known Dead At Shinnston, West Va.

SHINNSTON, W. Va., June 23 (P)—A terrific wind, tearing through a dozen central West Virginia communities, caused a death toll tonight of at least twenty-two, with ambulance drivers reporting "the worst is yet to come."

Early reports showed more than 200 persons injured as the tornado wind cut a swath through Marion, Harrison and Taylor counties, leveling homes by the dozen.

14 Bodies in Morgue

Fourteen bodies from the Shinnston suburb of Pleasantville were placed in the Harmer morgue here. One victim died in a hospital at Clarksville.

Charles Lockhart, publisher of the Grafton News, reported seven known dead in the Taylor county community of Simpson.

There were unconfirmed reports of "four or five" dead in the Joctown section across the Marion county line.

Ambulance drivers, frantically trying to get over blocked roads up Shinnston Run, said they had reports of bodies along the roads.

Charles Lockhart, publisher of the Grafton News at Grafton, said he knew of seven persons killed in the Taylor county community of Simpson, a few miles from Shinnston.

Clyde Jenkins, representative of the Charleston Daily Mail en route from his home at Farmington to Clarksville, reached Shinnston just after the storm.

Houses Flattened

The houses in the suburb were flattened to kindling. Jenkins said, "I saw a brick house whose second story had been sheered away."

"Men were digging into the ruins and there were persistent reports of many deaths. No one seemed to know for certain, however."

The Methodist church was opened and several injured, most of them children, were brought there for treatment. All the staff of a drug store was engaged in handing out medical supplies.

"It seemed certain that scores were injured."

The storm struck about 8 p. m. in the Pleasant Hill section, a recently constructed suburb, passed over the hill to knock off the top of the state police radio tower and moved on to the village of Saltwell.

Ferry Road Opened

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 23 (P)—Governor O'Connor announced today the completion of construction work and opening to traffic of the final section of the new Sandy Point terminal ferry road.

Roosevelt Asks Liberation of More of France

Declares Civil Rule Must Wait

By HOWARD FLIEGER
WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — President Roosevelt declared today that more of France must be liberated from the Nazis before action is taken to set up civil government administration in that country.

He made the remark to a news conference as word came from supreme headquarters of the Allied expeditionary force that French officers will do liaison work in France, under control of Shaeff, on a day to day basis.

This new co-operation between Gen. Charles De Gaulle and the supreme command was worked out without any formal meeting or agreement between the French general and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, a reliable informant told Wes Gallagher of the Associated Press.

President Roosevelt made no direct comment on Gen. De Gaulle's recent action in setting up civil administrators behind the Allied lines in France, but he told a questioner that military liberation must come first. The Cherbourg operation is going along according to schedule, he said, but he added that only one-tenth of one per cent of France has been retaken by the Allies.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had heard indirectly from French sources that De Gaulle hopes to come to Washington, probably between July 6 and 14, second of two dates the president made available to him.

Commenting on the state department's recent action in expelling Hjalmar Procope, the Finnish minister, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that the present Finnish government is allied with Germany and fighting our ally, Russia. He reemphasized that the Procope incident does not mean a diplomatic break.

The Procope expulsion, he said, raised the question of whether this country's foreign policy is on sale for $140,000 and answered himself with an emphatic no. The sum is the approximate amount of the Finnish war debt payment. Procope made to this government shortly before the State department ordered him out of the country.

Short and Snappy Platform Desirable

THIS NEWSPAPER desires to reiterate its hope that the Republican national convention at Chicago will adopt a platform that is short, succinct and snappy—something the average voter can easily and quickly read and assimilate, instead of a long and fulsome massing of words that will be useful only for the records.

Some are fearful of a short platform. The New York Herald Tribune, for example, warns against it on the ground that it will be disheartening if it says as little as it can, commits its candidate to nothing, is made a sort of catch-all to collect the votes and so lets the future take care of itself.

But this newspaper does not believe that a brief platform will necessarily be a demonstration of cowardice, but on the contrary a display of strength and sincerity. A spade can be called a spade just as easily in two words as in 300—in fact it would be more positive, more definitive and more impelling in shorter verbiage.

The New York newspaper jumps to an unfounded conclusion in assuming that a short platform would mean evasion and dodging. It is in fact the longer and more involved document that gives greater opportunity for that. Evasion and cowardice can be established in either form.

But there is no evidence, save from those who are seeking to impose their own particular ideas of what the platform should be, a suspicion that attaches to the Herald Tribune's warning, that the Republican delegates at Chicago purpose to evade anything. From what this newspaper has been able to gather, it is the sincere purpose of the delegates to have the platform speak positively, clearly and forthrightly on the important issues confronting the American electorate.

These are numerous, to be sure, and it will require the painstaking efforts of masterminds to cover the subjects sure, and it will require the painstaking efforts of masterminds to cover the subjects in striking, succinct manner, but it can be done and it should be done, largely through the enunciation of fundamentals in such clear and unequivocal manner that will leave no doubt in any minds as to exactly what they mean and how they can be applied to the outstanding facts of present-day America and their portent for the future.

The New York newspaper stultifies itself by expressing fears in one breath that a mythical "Old Guard" may run the convention and in the next breath admitting that the party is in a healthy state of revival because the younger element of the party has "come to the fore, full of energy and eager for progress." Certainly the Mackinac declaration, which was undeniably a representative party affair, has corroborated the latter admission. And, it may be noted, the Mackinac declaration was not a long-winded, rambling, involved and evasive utterance. It is an excellent specimen of what should be done with the general platform.

Bill Limitation Plan Is Doubtful

FURTHER INFORMATION that has trickled in about the proposed constitutional amendment restricting the introduction of bills in the General Assembly serves only to increase the doubt hitherto expressed by this newspaper of its effectiveness.

The proposed amendment, submitted to the state Legislative Council by Senator Joseph R. Byrnes, of the Fifth Baltimore district, chairman of the council's Judiciary committee, provides that no bill shall originate in either house during the last twenty days of the session, unless two-thirds of the members so vote and only after the title of the proposed bill has been read in full and its purpose explained by the member offering the bill, together with the written recommendation of the House Rules committee.

What, under this arrangement, would prevent a delegate or a senator, having easily surmounted the two-thirds hurdle by the usual log-rolling methods, from offering a bill under its title with a preamble and perhaps one brief enactment thereunder, before the twenty-day deadline, and then plopping the main part of the measure as amendments in the last two or three hours before adjournment of the session?

As this newspaper had before noted, this bill introduction limitation idea was tried out over in West Virginia, was found to be futile and was abandoned. The failure was due to the introduction of measures with only titles and preambles and the insertion of the main text by way of amendments in the last hours of the session, and no means of preventing such parliamentary practice could be found.

Consequently, it is difficult to perceive how the laudable purpose of the proposal, that of preventing last-minute legislative log jams and hasty legislation, could be achieved.

American Training Is Justified in France

ONE of the big questions before the invasion of France concerned the manner in which American troops who never had been in battle would react to actual combat conditions. The Germans undoubtedly counted heavily on the inability of untried American troops to conduct themselves effectively the first time they were in action.

The question now has been answered to the satisfaction of the Allies and the disappointment of the Germans. The dash with which the Americans took Cherbourg left the Germans dazed and bewildered. The combat-green Americans carried themselves so well that Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, paid them special tribute in a statement to the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes. Gen. Marshall said that the western front invasion was perfectly coordinated and that on his recent visit to the battlefield he found evidence of a high standard of leadership throughout.

"From every portion of the line where our men were fighting," he said, "came reports of the aggressive action, skill and high morale displayed by the American soldier."

"Those engaging in their first combat carried themselves like the veterans of experienced divisions. This probably was the most reassuring aspect of the operations to us and the most depressing to the enemy."

The performance of American troops in their baptism of fire speaks volumes for the hard training they received both in the United States and in Britain. It is true in war there is no substitute for experience, but efficient training goes a long way toward providing it.

We Fought Before At Cherbourg

SOMEONE has dug up the fact, reminded by the fighting around Cherbourg, that another fight in which Americans engaged occurred at this French seaport eighty years ago.

The Confederate cruiser, Alabama, after two years of sea fighting with United States ships, moored at the Cherbourg harbor for additional fuel. Several days later the U. S. Kearsarge arrived. Captain Winslow of the Kearsarge describes what happened then:

"The Alabama left the port of Cherbourg this morning (June 19, 1864) at about 9:30 o'clock. Fearing the question of jurisdiction might arise, we steamed to sea six or seven miles, when we rounded to and commenced steaming for the Alabama. At the expiration of an hour, the Alabama struck, going down in about twenty minutes and carrying many persons with her. . . . Every officer and man did his duty, exhibiting a degree of coolness and fortitude which gave promise of certain victory."

While Americans are again fighting in this old French city, they are doing so as one undivided people. Northerner and southerner are fighting side-by-side, scarcely aware of any such distinction, for a common cause and, like the crew of the U. S. S. Kearsarge, they are manifesting a coolness and a fortitude that give promise of certain victory.

We won't believe that England has become thoroughly Americanized until London applies for a franchise in the major baseball leagues.

Mrs. Roosevelt says there is nothing to equal farming if you like country life. And there's nothing to equal country life if you like farming.

Apparently there are no disagreements between Allies and neutral countries which a few more victories in France can not settle.

If Hitler, as reported, is beside himself he certainly doesn't have much to lean on.

The French, landing on Elba, might have remarked, "Napoleon, we are here."

Whistling in the Dark

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Why shouldn't a man whistle in the dark? A whistle is not such a bad thing. It chases away the ghosts. It takes your mind from your troubles.

You're in trouble and the black beasts of tragedy are snapping and snarling at you and you know not which way to turn. The ship is drifting toward the rocks. Foreclosure is just around the corner. You can't pay your life insurance. There's a nagging pain within you that you're keeping to yourself. The fair princess of life has changed to an ugly clammy toad. What will you do?

Well, you can whistle in the dark. You can find a bit of comfort somewhere, a crumb dropped magically in your way. You can say, "I still have my health." You can say, "My wife still loves me."

You can say, "Now I'll discover for myself just how strong I am. I'll see if I can endure as Job did—and complain much less than he."

You can whistle in the dark and make a few observations about what fine weather we are having and how you saw a bird yesterday building a nest and it'll not be long now before a fellow can go into the hills and have a good time beside a pleasant stream.

Of course, if you do whistle in the dark, someone is sure to come your way and remind you that that is just what you are doing—and there should be a law against Whistling in the Dark. And YOU should be ashamed of whistling when you should be whining.

Take my word for it, that will happen. But it's better to be whistling than to be sucking on a lemon. And a whistle does make a cheerful sound in the middle of the gloom.

World Peace Plan Prospect Is Seen Good at Chicago

By MARK SULLIVAN

At this moment, and for the next five days, the hope for an international organization to preserve peace is face to face with the first hurdle. The hurdle may be expressed thus: Will anything happen at the Republican national convention to give a set-back to the project.

Up to now, the probable answer is happily no. But the situation is delicate; is surrounded by pitfalls, natural or planned; and is at the mercy of accidents.

The central facts are: Republican leaders, at Mackinac Island last September adopted a resolution favoring "a postwar co-operative organization among sovereign nations." In this resolution, Secretary of State Hull has conformed—nothing that he has proposed would contravene the announced Republican policy. Mr. Hull's co-operation goes farther—he has scrupulously followed a policy designed to bring about a proposal having non-partisan support. To this policy the Republican party leaders in turn have conformed.

They have kept in touch with Mr. Hull, co-operated with him. But co-operation has been such that last November an agreement brought about by Mr. Hull at a conference with Russian and British officials, was endorsed by the Senate in an extraordinary vote—85 to 5, practically all of both parties.

Prospects Good

The next formal step in co-operation will be the action of the Republican Resolutions committee at the Chicago convention, to be followed by the action of the convention itself next week.

The prospect is good. The Resolutions committee seems disposed to reaffirm the Mackinac resolution. The chairman of the committee, very able Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, is favorable to an international organization—he, like his father, President Taft, was a League of Nations man twenty-five years ago. Mr. Taft is a clear-minded, firm-seated person. Boat-rockers will have trouble shaking him off balance.

But the boat-rockers are gathering at Chicago. They are good-intentioned—indeed, over-confidence in the goodness of their intentions is what makes them difficult. They are zealous for some one narrowly defined purpose or another. Some want more than the Mackinac resolution, some want less. Other groups have purposes, laudable enough but difficult, about the related question of making peace. Some want a resolution for a negotiated peace, at once. Others want a resolution for unconditional surrender. Yet others want declaration on specific details of the peace arrangements, such as the disposition of Poland.

Accident Risk

Besides the boat-rockers, there is the risk of sheer accident. This week a member of the British government said something interpreted as meaning that the United States had provoked Japan to attack upon us—and seismic echoes reverberated in the corridors of Chicago hotels. An incautious, off-hand statement by any high official in any Allied capital might upset the apple-cart. A mere phrase, half a dozen words, could be as inflammable as gas.

But Chairman Taft in his political lifetime has stood up against many a gale. Several of the members of the Resolutions committee are experienced old-timers, not to be moved by gusts. The prospect is that the Resolutions committee will stand firm, and will also be able to steer its report through the convention as a whole. If so, a long step will be taken toward keeping the international association out of the presidential campaign.

Secret Armistice

From the Christian Science Monitor

Allied diplomacy is apparently in the process of seriously modifying the first free government set up by the acknowledged leaders of the Italian people. As a spokesman for the Advisory council explained the maneuver, it must have seemed logical from the council's point of view:

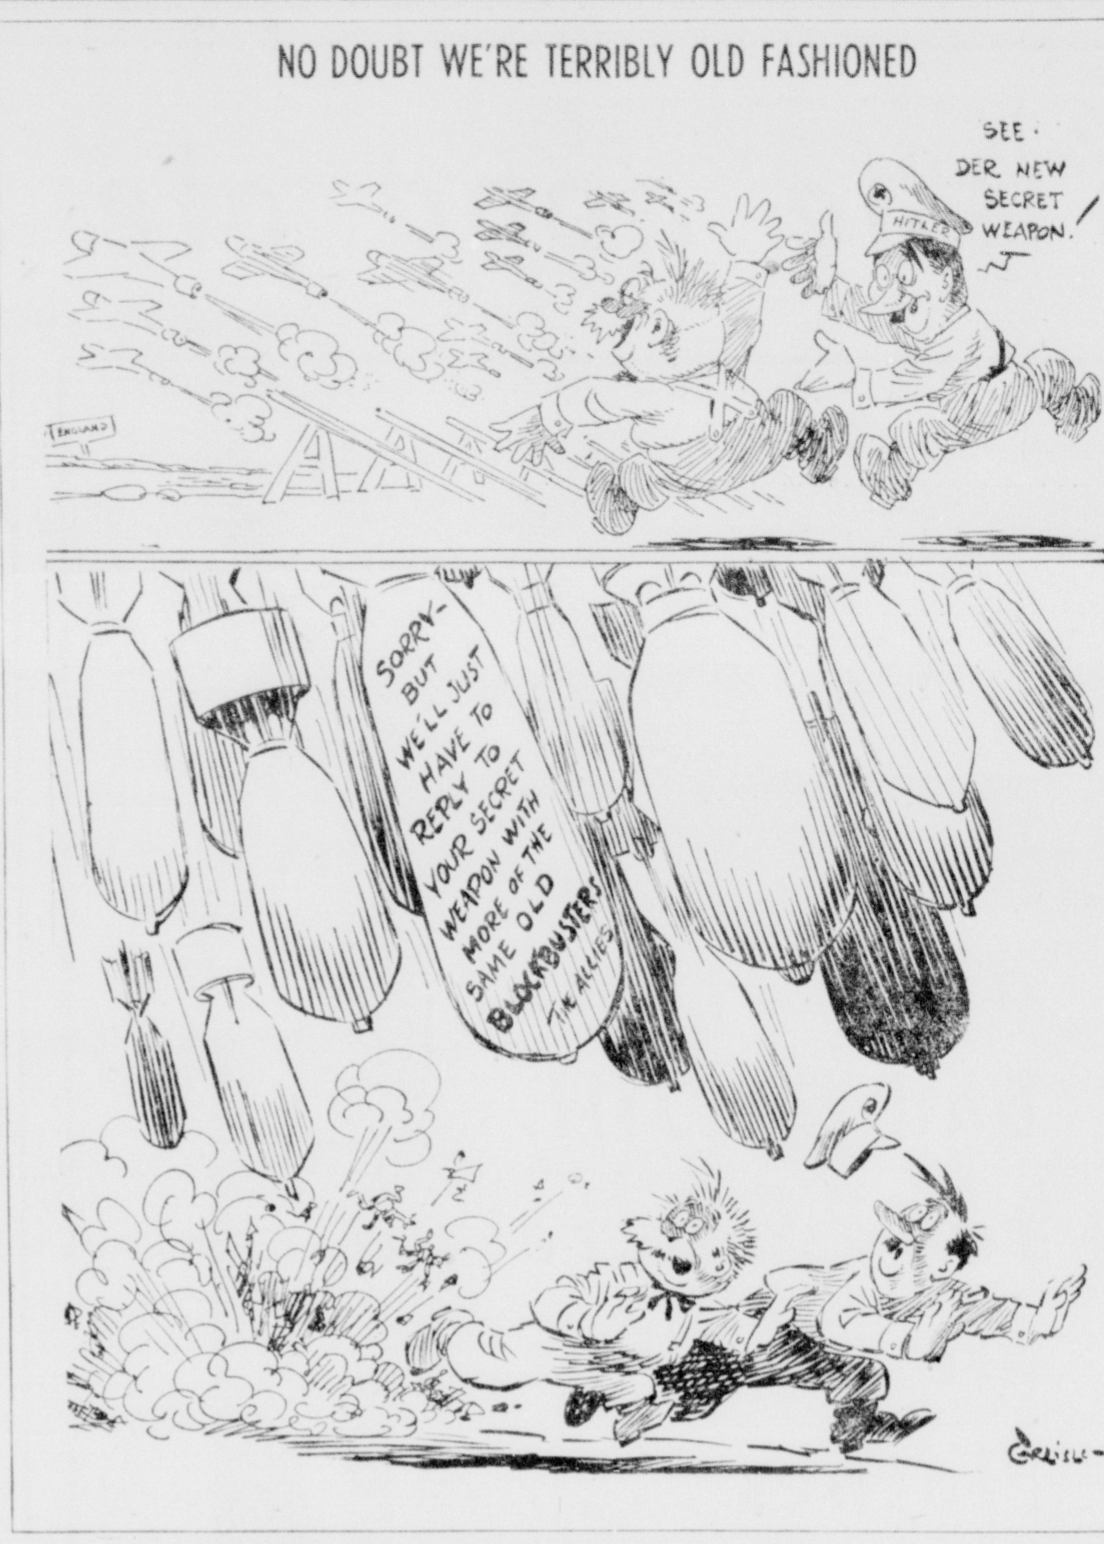

Certain secret armistice terms were signed by Marshal Badoglio. They must have included an Allied commitment not to change the status of the monarchy for the duration of the armistice. But now the Italian political leaders unexpectedly refuse to serve under Badoglio; they prefer Benoni in his place; they decline to swear allegiance to the crown. The council is greatly embarrassed. The armistice is still in force, and the council considers itself bound to maintain its provisions.

This may look all right to the council. It looks all wrong to the Italians. And it will look all wrong to many Americans who never believed in secret armistices, signed with ex-Fascists. It seems scarcely credible that some honorable way cannot be found out of a situation where an armistice which was a political and military mistake has become a bar to popular rule in Italy.

Why should the armistice terms be considered valid anyhow? They

Veto of Insurance Measure Is Seen Not Likely if It Is Passed before Elections

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 23—The House of Representatives by an overwhelming vote has just backed up the three members of the supreme court—Chief Justice Stone, Justice Frankfurter and Justice Jackson—who on June 5 said that the Sherman anti-trust law should not be applied to the insurance business.

This is one of the quickest answers ever made by Congress to a supreme court decision. The four justices of the court who held that Congress intended all along to cover the insurance business in the Sherman anti-trust law are now told that the present House of Representatives, at least, does not share that view of congressional intent.

For seventy-five years insurance men have relied on a decision of the supreme court that insurance was not technically to be defined as interstate commerce. Legislation providing for a federal control of insurance has been suggested at various times only to be met with rejection in Congress on the ground that the supreme court had held insurance to be a matter for control by the states.

War beyond doubt is a tremendous evil, but it cannot be destroyed, in the present state of world thinking, by giving evil its way. Crime must be held in check by force while the persuasion of education and enlightenment is employed to remove crime's causes.

A safe rule for human conduct is to follow the line which is nearest right under the circumstances. Few would hesitate to employ a weapon to save an innocent life from a criminal or madman. How much more important to save a world for the purposes of good.

The words are those of the Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, of Philadelphia, and they deserve to be remembered. While his Baptist brethren deleted his first seven words from a resolution on war, and wisely left church members free to follow the dictates of conscience as to supporting the war effort, Dr. Poling's stand doubtless will be applauded by a majority of his countrymen.

War beyond doubt is a tremendous evil, but it cannot be destroyed, in the present state of world thinking, by giving evil its way. Crime must be held in check by force while the persuasion of education and enlightenment is employed to remove crime's causes.

PLANS HUNGER STRIKE

The vote in the House of 283 to 54 shows that a substantial number of Democrats as well as Republicans are opposed to federal regulation of insurance or, rather, they prefer to let the situation remain as it is today, namely, under the effective supervision of the insurance departments of the different states. Majority Leader McCormack and Representative Ramspeck, Democratic whip, both voted for the measure.

Senate Likely To Concur

In the Senate a similar bill is pending in the Judiciary committee, but a report to the Senate is not expected until after the coming recess. The Senate will probably pass the bill.

There has been some discussion as to whether President Roosevelt would veto the measure. If the bill comes up to him for signature before election, it seems certain he will sign it, but if it is between November and next January, he will probably veto it. This is because the effort to control the insurance business is a pet New Deal measure, and, except in the middle of an election campaign when Mr. Roosevelt needs political support, he favors the en-

CHESTER LAKE, field representative for Rural Electrification Administrator Harry Slater, has written President Roosevelt that he intends going on a hunger strike in protest against what he said was politics in the R. E. A. He stated that he "deliberately decided to eat no more after June 23 until such time as you or Congress free the R. E. A. program for the farmers."

South May Throw Vice Presidency Into Senate's Lap

By SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL

WASHINGTON—The South has put Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt on the hottest spot of their careers. Forty presidential electors have been released from voting for the New Deal, unless it meets demands which it cannot or will not meet. While it is possible some of them may vote for Roosevelt, it is doubtful if they will vote for Wallace.

Yet the CIO American Labor party and the Communists demand Wallace. This dilemma has huge horns. Either way the president jumps he will be gored. S. B. Pettingill

A southern state which has not yet acted, will add to the heat by denouncing Wallace by name. If Roosevelt wins, unless by a landslide, the southern revolt may throw the election of vice president into the Senate. Assuming that enough southern senators do not vote for Wallace, we might then have Roosevelt as president and a Republican as vice president.

Home Front Lost

But Mr. Wallace may immolate himself on his country's altar and refuse to be considered. It is also possible that Mr. Roosevelt will decide that his place in history will be safer if he quits now. The polls indicate that the New Deal has lost on the home front. When the war ends, Mr. Roosevelt would be swimming against the tide.

Assuming that Mr. Roosevelt runs his life expectancy cannot be what it was twelve, eight or four years ago. By next January he will have had sixteen years of terrific pounding counting four years as governor of New York. This makes the vice presidency more important than ever. If Roosevelt runs and southern states vote for some other Democrat for president, the election may be thrown into Congress for the third time in history (Jefferson in 1800, and John Quincy Adams in 1824).

Split Is Possible

This makes the congressional elections this year of extraordinary importance. Despite anticipated Republican gains, the chances are that the next Senate will have a small Democratic majority. They would normally vote for a Democrat for vice president, if Wallace is eliminated. But if the next House is Republican, as now seems probable, we may have a Republican president and a democratic vice president. This is the exact opposite of what I outlined first—Roosevelt winning a clear majority in the electoral college but with Wallace as his running mate, the Senate electing a Republican vice president.

The South has discovered that being solid has drawbacks. Until it permitted Mr. Roosevelt to abolish the two-thirds rule in 1936, it had the balance of power in the Democratic party. (Why, by the way, was Mr. Roosevelt interested in abolishing the two-thirds rule in 1936 unless he was dreaming even then of a third term in 1940?) Since then the South has been "in the bag." As Thomas Lomax Hunter points out in a Richmond newspaper, "No attention is paid to noises coming from inside the bag." The South feels that if it does nothing more than make a noise, it will eat in the Kitchen from now on.

People Should Know This

From the Wheeling, W. Va., Intelligencer

American Communists have dissolved the National Communist party, have reorganized under the title of Communist Political Association, have placed Earl Browder at the head, and have cleared the decks for action.

What does it mean? It means that the Communists have moved formally into the New Deal party. Their immediate objective is the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt, who can, in their opinion, better advance the sort of government the Communists are interested in than could a candidate running frankly under the banner of the Communist party.

There is nothing at all improper in this action. American Communists have a right to organize as they please. They have a right to back Mr. Roosevelt or to put up a candidate of their own, as they choose. They have a right to work for what they call liberal government. But it is important, we think, that the American people understand fully the implications of the communist movement. Mr. Browder, in commenting on the organization, emphasized that "we remain an organization of American men and women who, holding the principles of scientific socialism, of Marxism, have an indispensable contribution to make to our own nation."

In other words, the candidate of men and women who hold the principles of scientific socialism is Mr. Roosevelt—so much their candidate that they disbanded their political party in order that they might work the more effectively for his re-election.

That is something the American people ought to know and think about.

Home-Made Cake for Wedding Belles

IT TAKES THE CAKE to add a long-remembered touch to any girl's wedding.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
AP Food Editor

One of my proudest possessions is the cookbook of my great grandmother, written in a beautiful spidery hand, and dated "New Bedford—1835." In it is a recipe for her wedding cake, which contained seventy-eight eggs—and other ingredients to match!

Even though eggs are plentiful these days, not many of us would even dream of concocting a cake that used any ingredient in such lavish fashion! However, even though weddings may be planned and carried through in great haste because of changes in army or navy leaves and such, we do want them to be the truly great occasions they ought to be. Serving home-made refreshments is the nicest touch of all. I will never forget that my mother made my wedding cake. Neither will your child if you do it for her.

Afternoon is the most socially correct time for a wedding. This is fortunate from the point of view that the refreshments properly served at this time are the easiest to arrange and most inexpensive of all. Mother's best cloth, coffee at one end and tea at the other, is a handsome sight. In the center put flowers from the garden—and the cake can be the handsomest part of the decoration.

All you need beside is a collection of little home-made sandwiches. These you can make in the morning and store carefully in the refrigerator, wrapped first in waxed paper and then in dampened tea towels. Make a variety of cheese, meat and fish spreads. And use some watercress, lettuce or other greens. Don't make sandwiches which will get soggy, though. In other words, save fillings like tomatoes for a time when they can be eaten at once.

The piece de resistance is the cake. We've planned for you one which is easy to make, inexpensive

Here's how to make the cake. Make two mixings. Unless you have an electric mixer a large amount of cake batter may not be properly mixed. The same goes for the frosting.

Economical Bride's Cake
1/2 cup fortified margarine
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk

3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon almond powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten house and couldn't buy one in these times. We were sad, when suddenly we remembered that the old (and beloved) copper skillet had a removable handle and it was precisely the right size—so you see the result in the accompanying photograph.

1. Cream margarine, add sugar gradually, beating as you add. Beat until light and fluffy. Measure flourings into the milk. Sift together the dry ingredients. Add dry ingredients and liquid alternately to the margarine-sugar mixture, about one-third of each at a time. Mix batter until smooth. Then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a greased and paper lined twelve inch layer cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees about thirty-five minutes, or until baked through. Remove from pan. Cool.

2. Mix a second batch of this cake batter. Pour into two greased and paper lined layer cake pans (one a six inch pan, the other a nine or ten inch pan). Bake as directed above.

Place largest layer on a round piece of cardboard, cut to fit, before frosting.

Frosting
2 egg whites
1 1/2 cups sugar
Dash of salt
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat together egg whites, sugar, salt, water and corn syrup in top part of double boiler; place over boiling water and continue beating with rotary beater about seven minutes, or until frosting thickens and holds its shape when dropped from beater. Remove from stove, add flavoring and continue beating until stiff enough to spread.

Put layers together with this frosting, and if necessary hold together with skewers to prevent layers from slipping. Allow to set. About a half hour later make a second batch of this frosting and cover top and sides of the cake. Decorate sides with little silver (candy) dragees, if desired, as shown in the illustration.

Pacific Coast, and Southern sections of the country continue to name Governor Thomas E. Dewey their first choice for the G.O.P. presidential nomination.

The governor's popular support in these three sections, comprising
a total of twenty-four states, is shown in surveys
in which field
reporters questioned those voters
indicating a preference for a Republican president
next year.

Their preferences for the nomination are shown in the three sections as follows:

PACIFIC COAST SECTION
(Oregon, Washington, California)
Thomas E. Dewey ..... 63%
John W. Bricker ..... 6
Harold E. Stassen ..... 6

MOUNTAIN SECTION
(Mont., Ida., Nev., Utah, Ariz., Wyo., Colo., N. Mex.)
Thomas E. Dewey ..... 54%
John W. Bricker ..... 7
Harold E. Stassen ..... 5

SOUTHERN SECTION
(La., Miss., Ala., Ga., Fla., Tenn.,
N. C., S. C., Ky., Va., Okla.,
Texas, Ark.)
Thomas E. Dewey ..... 59%
John W. Bricker ..... 10
Harold E. Stassen ..... 6

In today's survey, a total of twenty-five per cent of the vote in the Pacific Coast section, thirty-four per cent in the Mountain section, and twenty-five per cent in the South were cast for other Republican leaders, principally

Delegate voting strength of the thirteen Southern states is 219. The three states on the Pacific Coast have a total of eighty-one, the eight states in the Mountain section a total of seventy-three. The popular support of various Republican possible nominees will not, however, necessarily be reflected in the way the delegates from each area cast their final votes at the convention during next week.

Surveys in the four other principal sections of the country—New England, Middle Atlantic, East Central and West Central—show Governor Dewey first choice for the nomination among Republican voters there.

Loan Drive Lags In Oakland Area, Chairman Reports

Individual Sales Are Low throughout County, H. C. Riggs Says

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, June 23—With only $41,328.25 reported in the sale of war bonds in the fifth war loan drive, the campaign to raise $275,000 continues to be extremely sluggish, it was announced by H. C. Riggs, county chairman.

Individual sales especially, were said to be at a low ebb, and Riggs declared that individuals are "going to have to dig," if Garrett county is to reach its quota.

Of the quota of $275,000 which the county is expected to contribute, $145,000 is expected to be raised by individuals through the purchase of "E" bonds. Up to and including June 19, the sale of "E" bonds totaled only $13,706.25.

Although the entire report showed a total of $41,328.25, Riggs said he had received assurances of further purchases from both individuals and corporations. The total this week does not include certain amounts to be credited from the B. and O. railroad company, the Davis Coal and Coke company, and a portion of the $8,000,000 in bonds purchased by the state from various funds.

The B. and O. advised the state committee that it had allocated $250,000 of its subscription to Allegheny and Garrett county, and Riggs presumed that the county's allotment would be based on the percentage of the quotas that both counties are expected to raise, which would indicate Garrett county would be credited with about $25,000. There is also a credit of $8,500 from the State Employee's Retirement System of Maryland. A purchase of $500 in two and one-half per cent bonds by a county individual is also being credited to the county's quota. Riggs was informed.

Although 2,500 American troops, together with English, French, Russian and Japanese soldiers battled Chinese for months in the Boxer rebellion, a Federal court ruled the campaign was "not a war."

Barn is Destroyed

Lightning struck and the ensuing fire destroyed the barn at Luther Nine, on his farm at Underwood, about five miles southeast of Oakland, last Friday evening during a thunderstorm, it has been learned.

The owner, who had just finished milking three cows, was temporarily stunned by the shock and in the ensuing fire was burned about the face and hands as he attempted unsuccessfully to save his automobile. He released the three cows as soon as the lightning struck and they got out. Four calves were in another part of the barn. One was freed, two others managed to get out just before the barn collapsed, and one of the calves was lost in the flames. Also in the barn were a

YOU SAVE ON THE COST PER GALLON!
Super is top-quality, at a money-saving price. In impartial laboratory tests with the top grades of the 6 best known nationally advertised house paints (ALL HIGHER IN PRICE) Super proved—It

HIDES BETTER (because of more Titanium Dioxide); GOES FARTHER (gallon covers 600-900 sq. ft., one coat); and LASTS LONGER (because it contains a more expensive Linseed Oil).

2 YOU SAVE ON THE "COST PER YEAR!"

This labor cost is the same for a low-grade house paint (that will need repainting in a year or two) as it is for a LONG-LASTING top-grade paint like SUPER. That's why the longest lasting paint you can buy will cost you the least per year. So PAINT
